

From Our Founder

"How much will my bathroom remodel cost?" This question is inevitably at the forefront of homeowners' minds when considering a renovation. As founder of Caine and Company, I understand that while shopping for homes or vehicles may be familiar, navigating bathroom remodeling involves unique considerations that can feel overwhelming.

We've developed these pricing guides to provide general budgeting information and ease our clients' concerns through our innovative process. At Caine and Company, we transform the potentially daunting bathroom renovation experience by prioritizing comprehensive communication, exceptional project management, and customer service excellence. Our qualified craftsmen approach every bathroom project with integrity and transparency. While this guide offers general estimates rather than final pricing, our team is dedicated to creating a stress-free bathroom remodeling experience. Our portfolio of custom bathroom transformations demonstrates our commitment to meeting your exacting standards.

We invite you to schedule a design meeting to discuss your bathroom remodeling vision. Creating your dream bathroom is a collaboration, and we look forward to working with you soon.
